Subject: Short Term Sale of Renewable Natural Gas Agreement - Discussion and Recommendation

Date: October 19, 2021

The WRA Renewable Natural Gas (RNG) Revenue Subcommittee met on May 5, 2021, to review the expected revenues from both the short-term agreement and the long-term agreement. On May 25, 2021, the WRA Finance Committee met to discuss the same topics. Monthly revenue for the short-term agreement for RNG production began in October 2020 and concluded on July 31, 2021. The 10-year long-term fixed-price agreement began on August 1, 2021, and the WRA has received two payments for the months of August and September of $480,246 and $538,485, respectively.

WRA Staff has been working with The Energy Authority (TEA) to sell the environmental attributes (EA) associated with the short-term RNG in order to produce a revenue stream for the EA. Originally it was anticipated that RINs would be generated and sold as revenue for the EA but because of regulatory issues getting protocols registered with EPA for producing RINS it has been determined that it is in the best interest of the WRA to sell the EA on the voluntary market instead. This switch to a fixed price deal will reduce the estimated revenue generated as previously presented.

TEA has presented several options for revenue sources for the EA as outlined below and after careful consideration and risk analysis staff believes the guaranteed fixed price is the best option when weighing the risk and probability of the deal to occur. See table below:

It was originally expected that the revenue from the short-term agreement, including Cargill, would be approximately $5,500,000 and the new revenue amount is approximately $4,481,232 for the gas produced from October 2020 to July 2021. The new revenue amount for the short-term deal will also affect the amounts used to amend the budget and is outlined in the following document along with a comparison of what was projected before and what is projected for the fixed price agreement.

This short-term agreement does not affect the 10-year long-term fixed price agreement the WRA has with Shell Energy that began on August 1, 2021 and is currently operating under.

With a recommendation from the WRA Finance Committee, Staff will present the fixed price short-term agreement to the WRA Board for approval.
